BLOWHARD'S DEFEAT.

The Results of a Meeting Between Duffer and a Consumptive.

You have seen the duffer—a hulking big fellow, with a bullet head and eyes of wind and fat, but without an ounce of and in his crew. He always picks his man, and he always means to be certain that he has got hold of somebody who can be lulled and bulldozed.

There was a chap of just this sort—a duffer from Dufferville—in the crowd of passengers obliged to wait at the depot in Decatur, Ala., for several hours on account of a railroad accident. After half an hour every body staid him up for what he was, but he was permitted to go blowing around because no one wanted the excitement of a row. He boasted of his fights and his victories, and he tried hard to pick a fuss with two or three farmers, and finally got his eye on something good. It was a tall, slim, hollow-eyed man from Ohio, who was evidently on his way to Florida, to look to his health, and as he wandered up and down the platform he coughed in a hollow and dismal way. Duffer advanced to meet him in his walk, and at once loudly demanded:

"Did you remove my valise off the seat?"

"No, sir," was the reply.

"Well, I want to find the man who did; I can map the earth with him in two minutes."

"Well, I don't care who it was."

"Oh! You don't! Mighty independent, you!"

"Go away from me, sir! I don't know you and don't want to."

"Don't you? If you were only a well man I'd make you eat mud. As it is, don't give me too much sass or I'll teach you manners."

"You are a loafer, sir—a first-class loafer," said the Buckeye as he continued to walk.

"I never strike a sick man," replied the other, "but I will tweak your nose once just to reduce your temperature. Now come—"

He reached out with thumb and finger, but he didn't get the nose. Instead of it he got the ear. The sick man with the right and left, and as he went down the consumptive kicked him to his feet and knocked him over a baggage truck. He didn't get up again until two men assisted him. He had two bunged eyes, a bloody nose, and a bleeding mouth, and he looked about in a helpless way and stammered:

"Gentlemen, lead me off somewhere where I can be alone."

When he had gone some one asked the consumptive if he wasn't afraid the exertion would give him a hemorrhage, and he replied:

"What do you take me for?"

"Aren't you a Northern consumptive on your way South?"

"Not for Joseph! I'm a professional contortionist on my way to fill an engagement in Cincinnati. I saw that duffer slugging me up, and so played to catch him. If he should want anything more send him around."—N. Y. Sun.

Romance and Reality.

Romantic Miss—Do you love me well enough to do battle for me?

Ardent Suitor—Ay, against a thousand.

"Well, Mr. Bigish is paying me a good deal of attention. Would you fight him for me?"

"Yes, I would."

"Could you defeat him?"

"No, he'd probably thrash the life out of me."

"Why? Well, never mind. I'll take you without any fighting; and, oh, do please remember, my darling, promise me on your honor, that if you ever see Mr. Bigish coming, you'll run."—N. Y. Weekly.

No Imitations for Him.

A Little North Side boy who was visiting a playmate the other evening was invited to take a ride on the latter's rocking-horse.

"I don't want to ride on that thing," he said, somewhat scornfully. "It's only a wooden horse. When I get to be a man I'm going to have one made of meat."—Chicago Tribune.

A fashion reporter from Paris is to have evening, plum, peach and other stones of frock, dry them, and keep them until a frosty night makes an open fire agreeable. Then bring a handful and throw them among the glowing coals. They crack and splutter for a moment, send up a brilliant flame and the whole room is filled with a delicious odor.

THE CROW FAMILY.

Some of the Peculiar Traits of the Noddy Black-Plumed Tribe.

Multitudes of crows often congregate in the woods and swamps. Wilson says that the most noted crow roost he ever saw in his life is on an island in the Delaware. "This island," to use the words of this eminent naturalist, "sometimes goes by the name of the Pea Patch. It is only a little raised above the surrounding water, and is covered with a thick growth of reeds. The entire island is destitute of trees, and the crows alight and nestle among the reeds. The noise made by the birds, in their morning and evening assemblies, is almost incredible. Whole flocks of crows are sometimes laid waste by thousands alighting on it at once, with appetites whetted by the fast of the preceding night. The utmost watchfulness is necessary on the part of the farmer to prevent his field from being plundered. The character of the crow is here in very bad repute. To say to the man who has lost his whole crop of corn by the birds that crows are exceedingly useful for destroying vermin would be just about as convincing as it would be to tell him that fire is excellent for destroying logs when he has just had his house burned down by the flames. Some years ago a sudden northeast storm came on during the night, and the tide, rising to an uncommon height, covered the whole island. The darkness of the night, the violence of the storm and the suddenness with which it came on, it is supposed, so frightened the crows that they did not attempt to escape. At any rate, nearly the whole of them perished. Thousands of them were seen the next day floating in the river, and the wind, shifting to the northwest, drove their dead bodies to the New Jersey side, where for miles they blackened the whole shore. However, it was not long after that before the island contained as large a population of crows as ever. This race of birds, the writer thinks, must have a great affection for the Pea Patch.

A crow once attempted to carry off a young chicken or two and got himself into trouble by the process. The chicken clustered around the parent hen and she defended them with a good deal of heroism. At last she drove the enemy from an apple tree and fought him there so furiously that he was soon glad to retreat and give up his chance of getting a dinner at that quarter.—Baltimore Sun.

THEY SHOUTED "CASH."

A Virginia Farmer Rescues Undue Family with His Name.

Cassius or "Cash" Colquhoun, as he is usually named, a well-known resident of Randolph County, Va., recently paid his first visit to New York. Wishing, unlike so many men, to show his thought for his wife when out of her sight, he entered a leading dry-goods store for the purpose of buying a dress pattern or some such suitable article. Walking up one of the aisles he was more than surprised to hear some one in the dim distance loudly yell out "Cash!"

Naturally surprised, he looked in the direction whence the voice came, supposing its owner to be a friend or acquaintance, and that Gotham's proverbial looseness of habit permitted this manner of salute. Still he could see no one that he recognized. Wondering how the matter came about, he went on to the billing point, when, as if by a preconcerted signal, from all quarters of the room came persistent cries of "Cash! Cash! Cash!" This was more than the Virginia chivalry, in the person of Mr. Colquhoun, could bear, and, as at that moment a clerk, with a locust-like voice, standing right back of him, called the climax by shouting the name in his very ear, he turned round and remarked:

"Look here, young fellow, you folks may think you're having a lot of fun with me, but if you use my name that way again I'll break your neck."

It took the proprietor and six floor walkers half an hour to convince him as to the facts of the case, and the name was meant. Meanwhile he carried on in such a way that half the salesmen went out and got big accident insurance policies, good until the Virginia gentleman was booked to leave town.—Richmond Star.

Arsenic and Potash Three Times a Day for Twenty-Five Years.

I have been taking S. S. S. (Swift's Specific), and feel it to be my duty to state its results, that others who are similarly affected may profit by my experience, and be relieved of their sufferings. I had suffered for a long time with what the doctors called Herpes, an eruption of the skin, forming scales and blotches which was horrible to endure. Under the advice of physicians I took 30 drops of Fowler's Solution of Arsenic every day for 25 years besides many other kinds of medicines, without a cure. I have been taking S. S. S. for about two months, and the eruption and unpleasant symptoms have all disappeared, and I am continuing to completely root it out of my blood, which I intend to do, and what I will do for others, for there are thousands of such cases all over the country which resist all other treatment. I have lived here in my present business for 22 years.

Medical Enthusiasm.

Some physicians, noticing the excellent tonic and antiperiodic and antiperiodic properties of Smith's Tonic Syrup, have endeavored to ascertain its composition. Of course the proprietors of this valuable remedy would not themselves if they made the secret of their cure public property. Why should its composition be considered so long as it proves an effective remedy and is easily obtainable? It is a question of time. Many people who buy and use quinine don't know it is made from Peruvian bark. They don't care to know. They know quinine cures the chills and fever, and that is all they want it for. But the people know that Smith's Tonic Syrup will break up a cold or attack of influenza, a grippé, etc., better than any other drug. They know also that it is pleasant to take and is never less than pleasant to effect. There is also the fact that it is used as a substitute for quinine and always with most satisfactory results.

The teacher of a Sunday school class of colored children expounded to them the parable of the prodigal son. She described in as graphic a manner as she could the young man seeking luck while the swine fed on corn.

In the midst of her description one attentive boy held up his hand and said: "Missus, I think that white boy was a fool."

"Why do you think so?"

"Case, if I had been him I would 'a' stole one o' dem hogs and had a good dinner."—Christian Advocate.

Rain-in-the-Face, the noted Sioux chief, is dying at Superior, Wis., from a stab wound inflicted by his squaw.

The new law passed by the Legislature giving Commonwealth's Attorneys a salary of $2,500 goes into effect today.

Owensboro shows up with only 9,500 population, much short of the claims made before the census. Of course there is some talk kicking.

Urey Woodson was not allowed to decline the Presidency of the Press Association, but the honor was thrust upon him and he was forced to accept.

Nearly all of the large cities have reported a daily list of sunstrokes and prostrations from heat for several days past and the number of deaths has been very large.

When John Hendrick, of Livingston, and Jack Hendrick, of Fleming, get to canvassing the State for Attorney General, there is going to be danger of mixing them up. They are both announced candidates.

Esq. Warfield has sent out a circular laying down his platform in the race for Delegate. The main plank is his hostility to the voting of aid or subscriptions by the people to railroads or other public improvements built by "corporations."

The President has appointed Commissioners-at-large to the World's Fair as follows: Gaston W. Allen, of New York, in place of Edward W. Ammidown, declined; Judge William Lindsay, of Kentucky, in place of Samuel W. Luman, of Georgia, declined.

Ex-Treasurer Hemingway, of Mississippi, has been convicted of embezzlement and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Hemingway was charged with stealing $315, 612.19 and made no effort to get away. He still protests his entire innocence, though he cannot explain what became of the money.

The race for Delegate to the Constitutional Convention has been allowed to get into a very complicated shape. Esq. Warfield early in the spring announced himself as an independent candidate, on the anti-railroad idea. Voters of both political parties requested Dr. J. D. Clardy, also a Democrat, to make the race against Esq. Warfield upon a platform favoring the right of the people to tax themselves for public improvements or to invite the investment of foreign capital in railroads or other enterprises. Just as the race was considered made, Mr. S. C. Morgan, a Republican, came out and became a bitter personal warfare upon Esq. Warfield. This has caused a good deal of bad feeling and has injected so many side issues into what was intended to be a non-political contest that the only solution seems to be for both parties to ignore local issues and make nominations. There are now two Democrats upon the track and the question for immediate consideration is how to get the opposing forces united and present a solid front to the common enemy. It should be done and done quickly.

The following item, clipped from the Ft. Madison (Iowa) Democrat, contains information well worth remembering: "Mr. John Roth, of this city, who met with an accident a few days ago spraining and bruising his leg and arm quite severely, was cured by one 50 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm." This remedy is without an equal for sprains and bruises and should have a place in every household. For sale by Buckner Leavelle.

YEARS OF STEALING.

The State, County and People Systematically Defrauded.

No Longer Any Doubt of Corruption in the Sheriff's Office.

The Shortage Already From $5,000 to $8,000 in Two Years.

PARTIAL LIST OF TAX-PAYERS ROBBED.

There is no longer any doubt that there were wholesale frauds and systematic corruption and rottenness in the sheriff's office under the Boyd regime. This is admitted on all hands, and the only question now at issue is the location of the moral responsibility. O. S. Brown was the office deputy and the books were manipulated and frauds perpetrated by him. Boyd denies all knowledge of the stealing that was going on, but claims that he was the victim of misplaced confidence in turning over the books of his office to Brown.

A LITTLE MATTER OF $730.33.

Another matter of over $730 has come to light, after having been overlooked for two or three years. In April 1887 a levy was made of 12 1/2 cents on the $100 to pay the interest on the Christian county Railroad bonds and the sheriff was instructed to collect the money. The total tax was $9,129.29, but in making his settlement with the county Mr. Boyd or his deputy Mr. Brown turned over only 11 1/2 cents of the levy, keeping back nearly one-twelfth of the amount collected, the sum withheld being $730.33. Strange to say the presence of a little surplus of $730 in the profits of the sheriff's office was never detected until the attorneys of the Auditor's agent brought it to light. Mr. Brown admits that this item is correct and due the State, but cannot understand how the mistake occurred. Of course he is now willing and anxious to disgorge and is sorry the little mistake ever occurred.

LAST WEEK'S DEVELOPMENTS.

Brown has virtually confessed to a shortage of about $3,000 and the actual investigation was just begun yesterday. It was proven last week that the sheriff had listed in 1888 $312,000 of property and reported only $7,400. This left a shortage to State and county of $3,180 on this item alone. Brown started out with a sweeping denial of the whole thing and tabooed the idea of fraud. He was given the benefit of his statement in Friday's KENTUCKIAN. After the paper had gone to press he came to the office and confessed that $75,000 or $100,000 of the amount was correct, but claimed that the property had been listed since Sheriff Boyd obtained his quietus in September, 1888. The quietus, it is well enough to remark, was not obtained in September, but on Nov. 21, '88, only a few weeks before Boyd's term expired on Jan. 1, '89. After examining the schedule of property listed, Mr. Brown subsequently admitted that all but about $100,000 was correct and the taxes unpaid.

This admission is a confession of a shortage in taxes of over $2,000. The fraudulent settlement with the county, to $730 he also admits. He further concedes that there may be certain "clerical errors and inaccurate calculations" to be made good. These if they amount to but a few hundred dollars would bring the confessed deficit up to $3,000 in one year. The agent of the Auditor, however, thinks his calculations are correct and that the defalcation will amount to much more than Brown admits. This point will be settled by the investigation now in progress. Mr. Brown also admits a discrepancy for 1887, but claims it will not be large. According to Agent Randolph's statements through his attorneys the shortage so far proven in three items for 1888 is $4,546, viz: $3,180 on property listed, $730 on a false settlement, and $637 stolen from private tax-payers. This latter item is only a partial statement and the true figures will be enough to bring the shortage for 1888 above $5,000, the bulk of which is confessed by Brown and of course Boyd's responsibility for the acts of his deputy can hardly be denied. It is a nice mess and shows that several different methods were resorted to to rob the State and people.

There is still another way in which stealing was done. Increased rates would be used to calculate taxes, or the totals would be raised and the people robbed of whatever it was thought they would stand. Where the tax rate was being changed every year it was an easy matter to increase a man's taxes without detection. For instance the rate of 1888 was lowered several cents from 1887 and the tax-payers were in some instances required to pay the old rates, or still higher ones. A single instance will show how this was done. A tax receipt has been found for $22.50 on a $2,300 town lot and $25 of personality in 1888. The rate was 84 cents on the first and 87 cents on the latter. This calculated gives $19.53 as the exact amount due. The shortage in this case was $3.02, or about fifteen per cent. added to the amount due.

The KENTUCKIAN has investigated some of these matters and the conclusion is irresistible that it was stealing, pure and simple. The guilty party or parties may be able to escape on technicalities of the law applying to embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, malfeasance in office, falsifying records, etc., but their guilt in the premises will be in no wise lessened.

WORSER AND MORE OF IT.

The investigation of the books which Brown surrendered yesterday was begun and 1887 was investigated. Mr. Brown and his attorneys being present. Up to 4 p. m. something over $18,000 of property listed had been found and none of it had been reported. This was mostly on the white list alone. The colored list showed $7,900 for that year. Sheriff Boyd has obtained a quietus for two years since this property was listed and Mr. Brown's claim that he intended to pay the 1888 tax can hardly apply to this case. The rate for 1887 was 98 1/2 cents and 99 cents and this adds $1,500 more to the shortage figured up so far and it is still growing. It must be borne in mind also that the penalty for withholding State funds is 50 per cent. which would make more than $1,000 more to the State's portion. It is most too early to begin making estimates, but if none of the discoveries now made are explained away it will take something like $7,500 to $8,000 to adjust matters. It is claimed that Brown has $3,500 in bank belonging to the State, but it is strange that he would pay a 50 per cent. penalty for keeping it there while the Governor was lending the State his private funds to keep up the State's credit. The developments of yesterday, however, explode the claim that a further settlement was contemplated with the State or county.

Mr. Boyd could not be a candidate for election in August if his quietus had not been obtained by last February—six months before. This was obtained as a matter of fact more than eighteen months ago as shown by the records and settlements have also been made with the county and yet nearly $500,000 of property has been shown to have been listed and not accounted for in two years time, to say nothing of other matters.

SOME OF THE VICTIMS.

Below is given a list of parties whose taxes were raised, with the amounts collected, in 1888. This is furnished by the investigating agents. It is by no means complete but the instances cited will serve to show how the thing was done. Rich and poor, widows and orphans, Republicans and Democrats were alike assessed and robbed. The list below foots up $637.37 taken from 276 persons in all parts of the county. These mistakes, all in the interest of the sheriff, could hardly have been accidental. They occurred on the sheriff's side with much system and regularity. It is a reflection upon a sensible man's intelligence to ask him to believe that they were not fraudulent and dishonest.

A Social Success.

The doors of Mr. Jas. M. Howe's beautiful residence on South Main were thrown open Friday evening and a brilliant reception given the young ladies and gentlemen of the city, the entertainment being given in honor of their charming visitor, Miss Schlamp, of Henderson.

The affair was in every respect a complete success. Mr. and Mrs. Howe have but few peers and no superiors in the art of entertaining and nothing was spared by them to make the evening thoroughly enjoyable to every guest.

The house was brilliantly lighted throughout and the yard was also illuminated with Chinese lanterns, while on every hand were fragrant floral decorations.

The following are the couples who were in attendance:

Mr. John P. Campbell with Miss Schlamp; Mr. A. S. Cox with Miss Boulware; Mr. W. S. Withers with Miss Bettie Boulware; Mr. G. M. Campbell with Miss Young; Mr. Walter Campbell with Miss Moore; Capt. J. J. Henry with Miss Fairleigh; Mr. R. M. Woodbridge with Miss Fannie Fairleigh; Mr. C. K. Wyly with Miss Petree; Mr. Jas. A. Radford with Miss Gant; Mr. Walter Radford with Miss May Fuqua; Lieut. C. S. Radford with Miss Woodbridge; Mr. G. M. Bell with Miss Kate Woodbridge; Mr. Julius Oswald with Miss Mary Barbour; Mr. Jack Moore with Miss Genevieve Anderson; Mr. C. H. Anderson with Miss Fannie Breathitt; Mr. F. A. Wallis with Miss Radford; Mr. W. L. Hopper with Miss Keene, of Louisville; Mr. W. R. Ely with Miss Green; Mr. Harry Bryan with Miss Mary Clark; Mr. S. C. Mercer with Miss Orr.

Mrs. Geo. C. Long, Mrs. T. W. Long, Mrs. Dr. A. Sargent and Mrs. Eugene Wood were also present.

The young ladies were all attired in full evening dresses and many of the costumes were very costly, beautiful and becoming. In fact all of the representatives of the fair sex looked their very best and the gallant beaux vied with each other in their attentions to the belles, and especially to the visiting young ladies present.

Supper was served at 11 o'clock, the tables being arranged in the dining room, on the broad porches and some of them out in the moonlight, beneath the shade trees. It goes without saying that the refreshments were all that an epicure could desire upon such an occasion.

An orchestra was on hand to make music throughout the evening. The guests departed at 12:30, taking with them the happy recollection of a most pleasurable occasion.

That tired feeling now so often heard of, is entirely overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives mental and bodily strength.

CREAM OF NEWS.

County Union.

The various sub-unions of the county will hold their regular county union in this city on Friday and Saturday, the 4th and 5th insts. This and other causes will draw a tremendous crowd to town on the 4th. The Wheelers, or Unionists, are constantly increasing in strength and this meeting will undoubtedly be a largely attended one.

A Sunday Fight.

Sunday afternoon Parthenia Leavell and Mary Ann Green, both colored, became involved in a difficulty which came near resulting seriously. They clashed after a few hot words had passed, when the Leavell woman drew a revolver and placing it at the breast of her antagonist pulled the trigger. The hammer caught in her clothing in its descent, which prevented the discharge of the weapon. It is also claimed that the Green woman had a hatchet, but when arrested it could not be found. They were held over in a $25 bond each, which they gave, and were released. Their trial comes up to-day.

July Assignments.

The revenue assignments for the next sixty days have been made and T. H. Major and Ed Glass are the only Christian county men not assigned. The others are located as follows:

V. M. Meacham to Jobe & Ritter, No. 95.

The Census Botched.

The people of Hopkinsville had as well make up their minds to be unfairly represented in the census reports. In the first place the parties selected to do the city work were politicians rewarded for party services.

Two of them abandoned their work for four days to act as officers of registration, but as they were well acquainted with their territory they probably did the best they could in their limited time and made fairly good enumerations. A. S. Gentry who had No. 3 did not live in his district, knew nobody in it and abandoned his work for a week to attend the press meeting at Winchester. Whole families have been over-looked by him and his work has in no sense been satisfactorily done. The fourth district was assigned to a colored man, who says he has enumerated everybody to be found and that his district will make a good showing. The time for taking the census expired yesterday, but it is possible that omissions can be counted off prompt steps are taken. Send your names at once to this office and they will be forwarded to the proper official. Don't delay a minute. This is very important to Hopkinsville for many reasons.

MATRIMONIAL.

A former New York man now of Montana has re-married a wife whom he abandoned 20 years ago. He went west after a few years of married life, sowed his wild oats and finally settled down and made a fortune in the cattle business. It required a good deal of persuasion to get his ex-wife to give him another trial, but after making two trips to New York he finally induced her to resign her place as matron in an Asylum and go with him to Montana.

L. Guy Harris and Susie Walker, of South Carolina, eloped three years ago while quite young and married but were separated at once by the angry father of the bride. The bride has just escaped from a convent, where she was sent, and eloped the second time with her husband.

Marriage Licenses.

DEATHS.

Betsy McFadden, in the city, last Wednesday, of general debility, aged about 100 years.

Two-year-old child of Ed Turner, in the city Thursday, of spinal meningitis.

Eight-months-old child of Wm. Wall, in the city Friday last, of measles.

The Great Benefit

Which people in a run down state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength, but Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up in a perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, purifies the blood, and assists in healthy action those important organs, the kidneys and liver.
